

I am absolutely opposed to the removal of current regulations on broadcast ownership. I do not believe providing the opportunity for a few companies to monopolize the media to be in the interests of the public or democracy. Without regulation, how will small independent newspapers or broadcasters be able to compete with media giants? Yes, America has diversity in media now, but who will ensure that that diversity remains following deregulation? Let's remember that we should not forsake the public interest in order to fulfill corporate desires.
